

WORKS CITED

ONEIDA MIDDLE SCHOOL

What is “Works Cited”?

“Works Cited” is sometimes called a bibliography. It is a list that gives credit to the sources of information that you use to write a report or work on a project.

Book or Pamphlet with One Author:

Orwell, George. Animal Farm. England: Penguin Books Ltd., 1956.

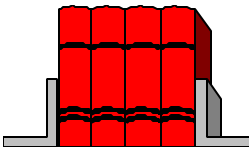

Book or Pamphlet with Two Authors:

Collier, James L. and Christopher Collier. Who is Carrie? New York: Dell Publishing Co., 1984.

Almanac:

“Exxon Valdez Oil Spill.” The Almanac of Science and Technology. 1990. 371-378.

Encyclopedia Article with an Author’s Name:

Schneir, Miriam. “Feminism.” World Book Encyclopedia. 1993. VII: 69-70.

Encyclopedia Article without an Author’s Name:

“Doberman Pinscher.” World Book Encyclopedia. 1993. XXII: 258-259.

Magazine or Newspaper:

Edwards, Mike. “The Great Khans,” National Geographic, 44 Feb. 1997: 2-35.

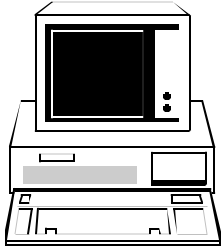

Interview with a Person:

Philbin, Regis. Telephone interview. 28 Feb. 1997.

Online Service:

“Charles Proteus Steinmetz.” Encyclopedia of Inventors.
America Online. Online. 14 Feb. 1997.

World Wide Web:

Internet Site (Personal):

Vernon, Thomas S. Thomas Alva Edison. Internet:
21 Feb. 1997. Online. Internet:
<http://www.biography.org>.

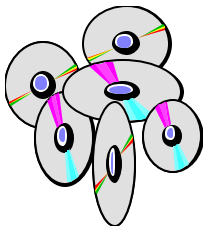

Internet Site (Professional):

Thomas Alva Edison. 21 Feb. 1997. Online.
Internet: <http://www.biography.org>.

Computer Software:

Atkins, James. Nightline Graphics. Vers. 2.1 Diskette.
Lansing, Michigan. 1994.

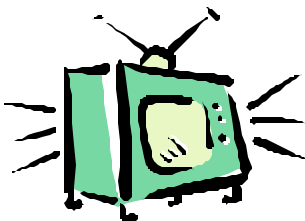

CD-ROM Program:

Custom Literature Database. User’s Guide. CD-ROM.
Illinois: Scott Foresman. 1997.

CD-ROM Encyclopedia:

“Ireland.” Microsoft Encarta 96 Encyclopedia.
CD-ROM. New York: Microsoft. 1996.

Television:

“Inventors and You.” Narr. Ed Dague. Channel 13 News.
WNYT, Albany. 14 Feb. 1997.

Videotape or Videodisc

Romeo and Juliet. Videocassette. The Shakespeare
Collection. 1982.

